SCOPE OF SERVICES

To complete this project there will be four phases of work: 1) stakeholder interviews, 2) data gathering and analysis, 3) focus groups, and 4) policy recommendations and report.

I. Stakeholder Interviews

Conduct seven stakeholder interviews with people named by the Director of Recreation and Human Services. The Council will design an interview protocol to ensure that we gain broad and deep understanding through these interviews about the priorities, barriers and needs in the human services space in San Leandro. Interviews will be documented and shall form the basis of our analysis approach. We will attempt to schedule all interviews in the first week of the project to ensure that these perspectives inform the analysis portion of the work and especially the policy recommendations.

2. Data Gathering and Analysis

A. Demographics

Conduct an analysis of the current demographic status and trends of the San Leandro community using publicly available data from the Census, ABAG and the California Department of Education, as well as using data-sharing agreements to incorporate more detailed analysis using data from the Alameda County Social Services Agency, the Alameda County Public Health Department, and through a request to the San Leandro Unified School District for student-level data.

Deliverables:

Provide clear snapshots of major demographic trends as well as the needs of population segments that can be gleaned from these data. These snapshots will include analyses of issues from race/ethnicity and languages spoken, to income levels, school attendance, birth rates, social service utilization levels, and health outcomes. Provide city-level comparisons for some key indicators to other Alameda County cities.

B. Services Inventory

Leverage both publicly available data, data from our partners at Eden Information & Referral, and other online sources to build a complete service inventory of organizations serving residents of San Leandro.

Deliverables:

Inventory: The service inventory will be provided digitally for easy updating and will cover the types of services offered, basic eligibility details, populations of focus, language capacity, and other key details. We will highlight key services not located in San Leandro but serving San Leandrans, though these services will be selectively included due to scope, timeline and budget limitations.

Online Map: Provide an online map of these services using a service such as CartoDB that can be shared with and modified by the City of San Leandro as needed. This will allow for analysis and public use of these data.

C. Gap Analysis

Once key stakeholder interviews have been conducted, compiled current services, and completed the demographic analysis, we will identify gaps in services that these phases of work reveal.

Deliverables:

The gap assessment will consider severity of needs, volume of services/slots available at major programs, funding gaps, and limitations related to geographic access to services (e.g., if a key service is only available far outside of the city boundary).

3. Focus Groups

Under guidance from the Director of Recreation and Human Services, develop focus group materials and host five community focus groups to share our initial data and services findings and to solicit community-driven policy suggestions. We will leverage the suggested participants and will provide Spanish-language translation at one meeting. We will ask for support from the City for Chinese-language interpretation services or could contract with a local firm to provide this service for a Chinese-language focus group.

Design summary materials for review with the focus group participants, and have an agenda that is participatory, gathering ideas and suggestions about barriers to service use, appropriateness of local services, major gaps, and equity issues in current offerings. We will discuss key data findings and seek feedback on the context of social and demographic trends.

Utilize learning from these focus groups in the final report and recommendations, as well as to adjust how we display data for maximum impact and clarity with diverse audiences.

4. Policy Recommendations & Report

Begin developing policy recommendations and compiling our full report from the second week of contract issuance.

Deliverables:

Deliver a full report along with a PowerPoint of key data points and major policy recommendations. Policy recommendations will be focused on the services within scope of the Human Services Commission and the other bodies engaged in this process. After delivery of these materials, be available for public and private meetings to discuss with City staff and policymakers.
