TITLE: Update from the SEED Collaborative Regarding Race and Equity Work for the City of San Leandro

SAN LEANDRO
DIVERSITY, EQUITY
& INCLUSION INITIATIVE

OCTOBER 2021

AGENDA

And when we pretend,
we're not connected,
we're in the process of othering.
We're in the process of denying not only someone's humanity, but our own humanity...

COMMUNITY THEMES & SURVEY RESULTS

THEMES AND SURVEY RESULTS

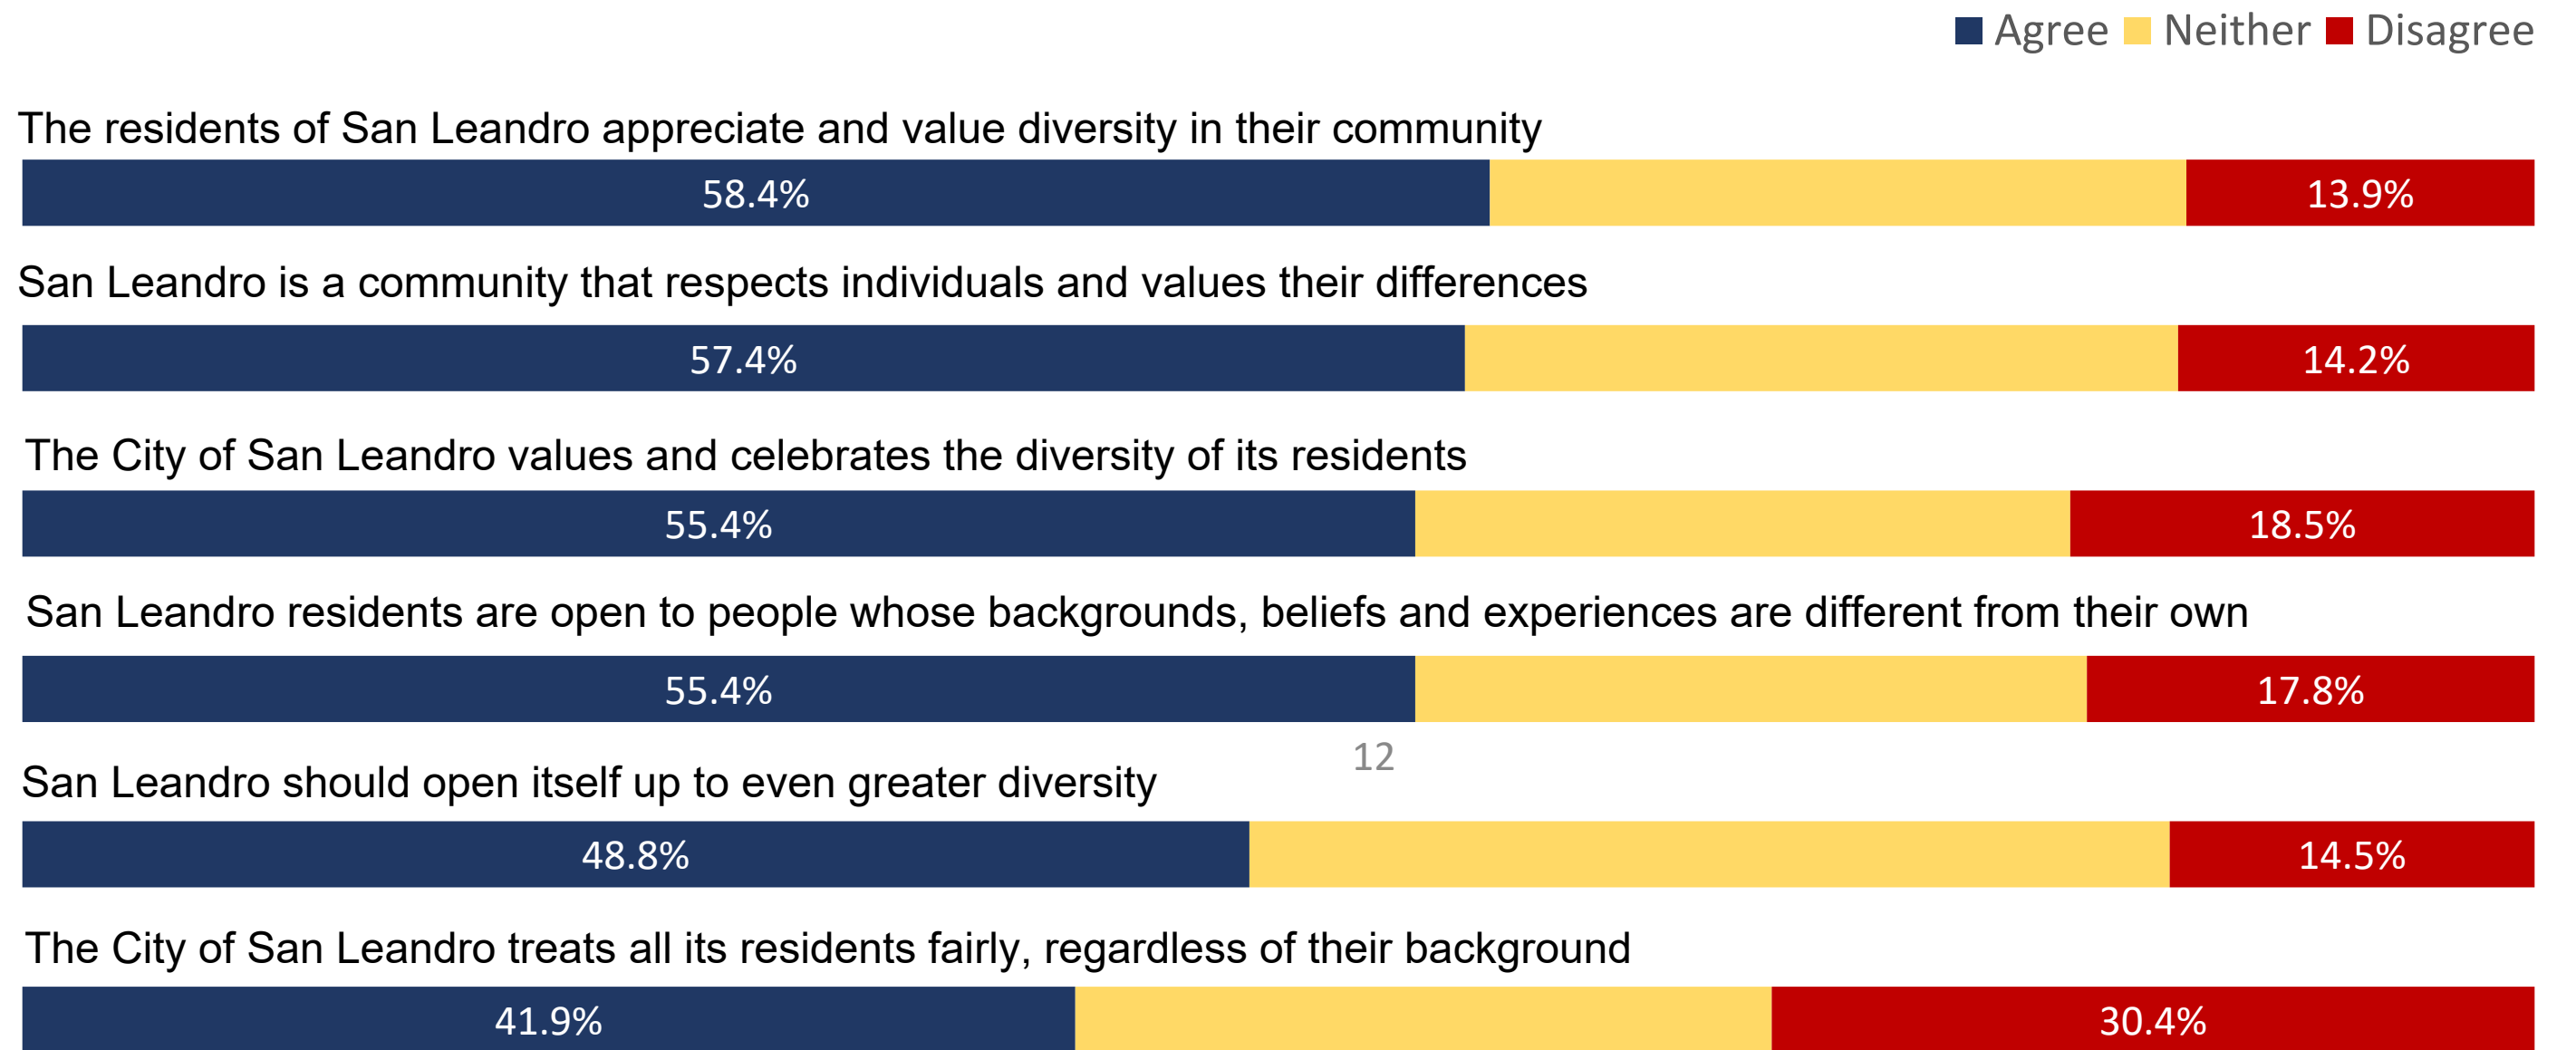

Participants find San Leandro to be an appealing place to live – largely due to its racial and demographic diversity

Overall, how satisfied are you with the City of San Leandro as a place to live?

THEMES AND SURVEY RESULTS

Participants find San Leandro to be an appealing place to live – largely due to its racial and demographic diversity

THEMES AND SURVEY RESULTS

Despite its diversity, there are divisions regarding how the City should grapple with its racial past and present

- A significant group of participants do not believe the City has done enough to formally acknowledge and renounce its past—e.g., sundown town, red lining, etc.
- The Steven Taylor shooting galvanized activists and young stakeholders for greater reform and change—widening the divide with older, more moderate community stakeholders
 - Division between SLPD vs. minority residents—particularly the African American community who perceive overly-aggressive police tactics used in their neighborhoods

■ Agree ■ Neither ■ Disagree

In order to become a more equitable, inclusive place, San Leandro needs to properly recognize and reckon with its history

THEMES AND RESULTS

Ineffective communications and a lack of community engagement and outreach are identified as major challenges to building trust, engagement and a sense of belonging

- There is a lack of targeted community engagement or communications strategies that reach the diverse constituents of San Leandro—including its ESL communities
 - The City's considerable Asian population (esp. its Chinese community) takes greater cues from civic groups in Oakland, than it does locally within San Leandro
 - The Spanish-speaking Latinx community in San Leandro is largely absent in local civic affairs

■ Agree ■ Neither ■ Disagree

There needs to be greater formal recognition and visibility for all the different races, cultures and identities that represent San Leandro

San Leandro needs to do a better job at communicating to its residents across a multitude of different languages and dialects

THEMES AND SURVEY RESULTS

Another equity divide is geographic—how resources are distributed across different City neighborhoods, as well as how policies and practices differ across City geography

- Belief that the City is disproportionately investing greater resources in downtown compared to other parts of the City
- Perception that neighborhoods adjacent to Oakland are policed differently—esp. compared to more affluent parts of the City
- Perception that disparities exist between schools that service the more affluent parts of the City compared to less affluent communities

EMPLOYEE FINDINGS & SURVEY RESULTS

There is skepticism about how to deal with personnel complaints and some distrust whether HR will satisfactorily resolve issues

Leadership Treats All Employees Fairly

INTERNAL DEI ACUMEN AND UNDERSTANDING

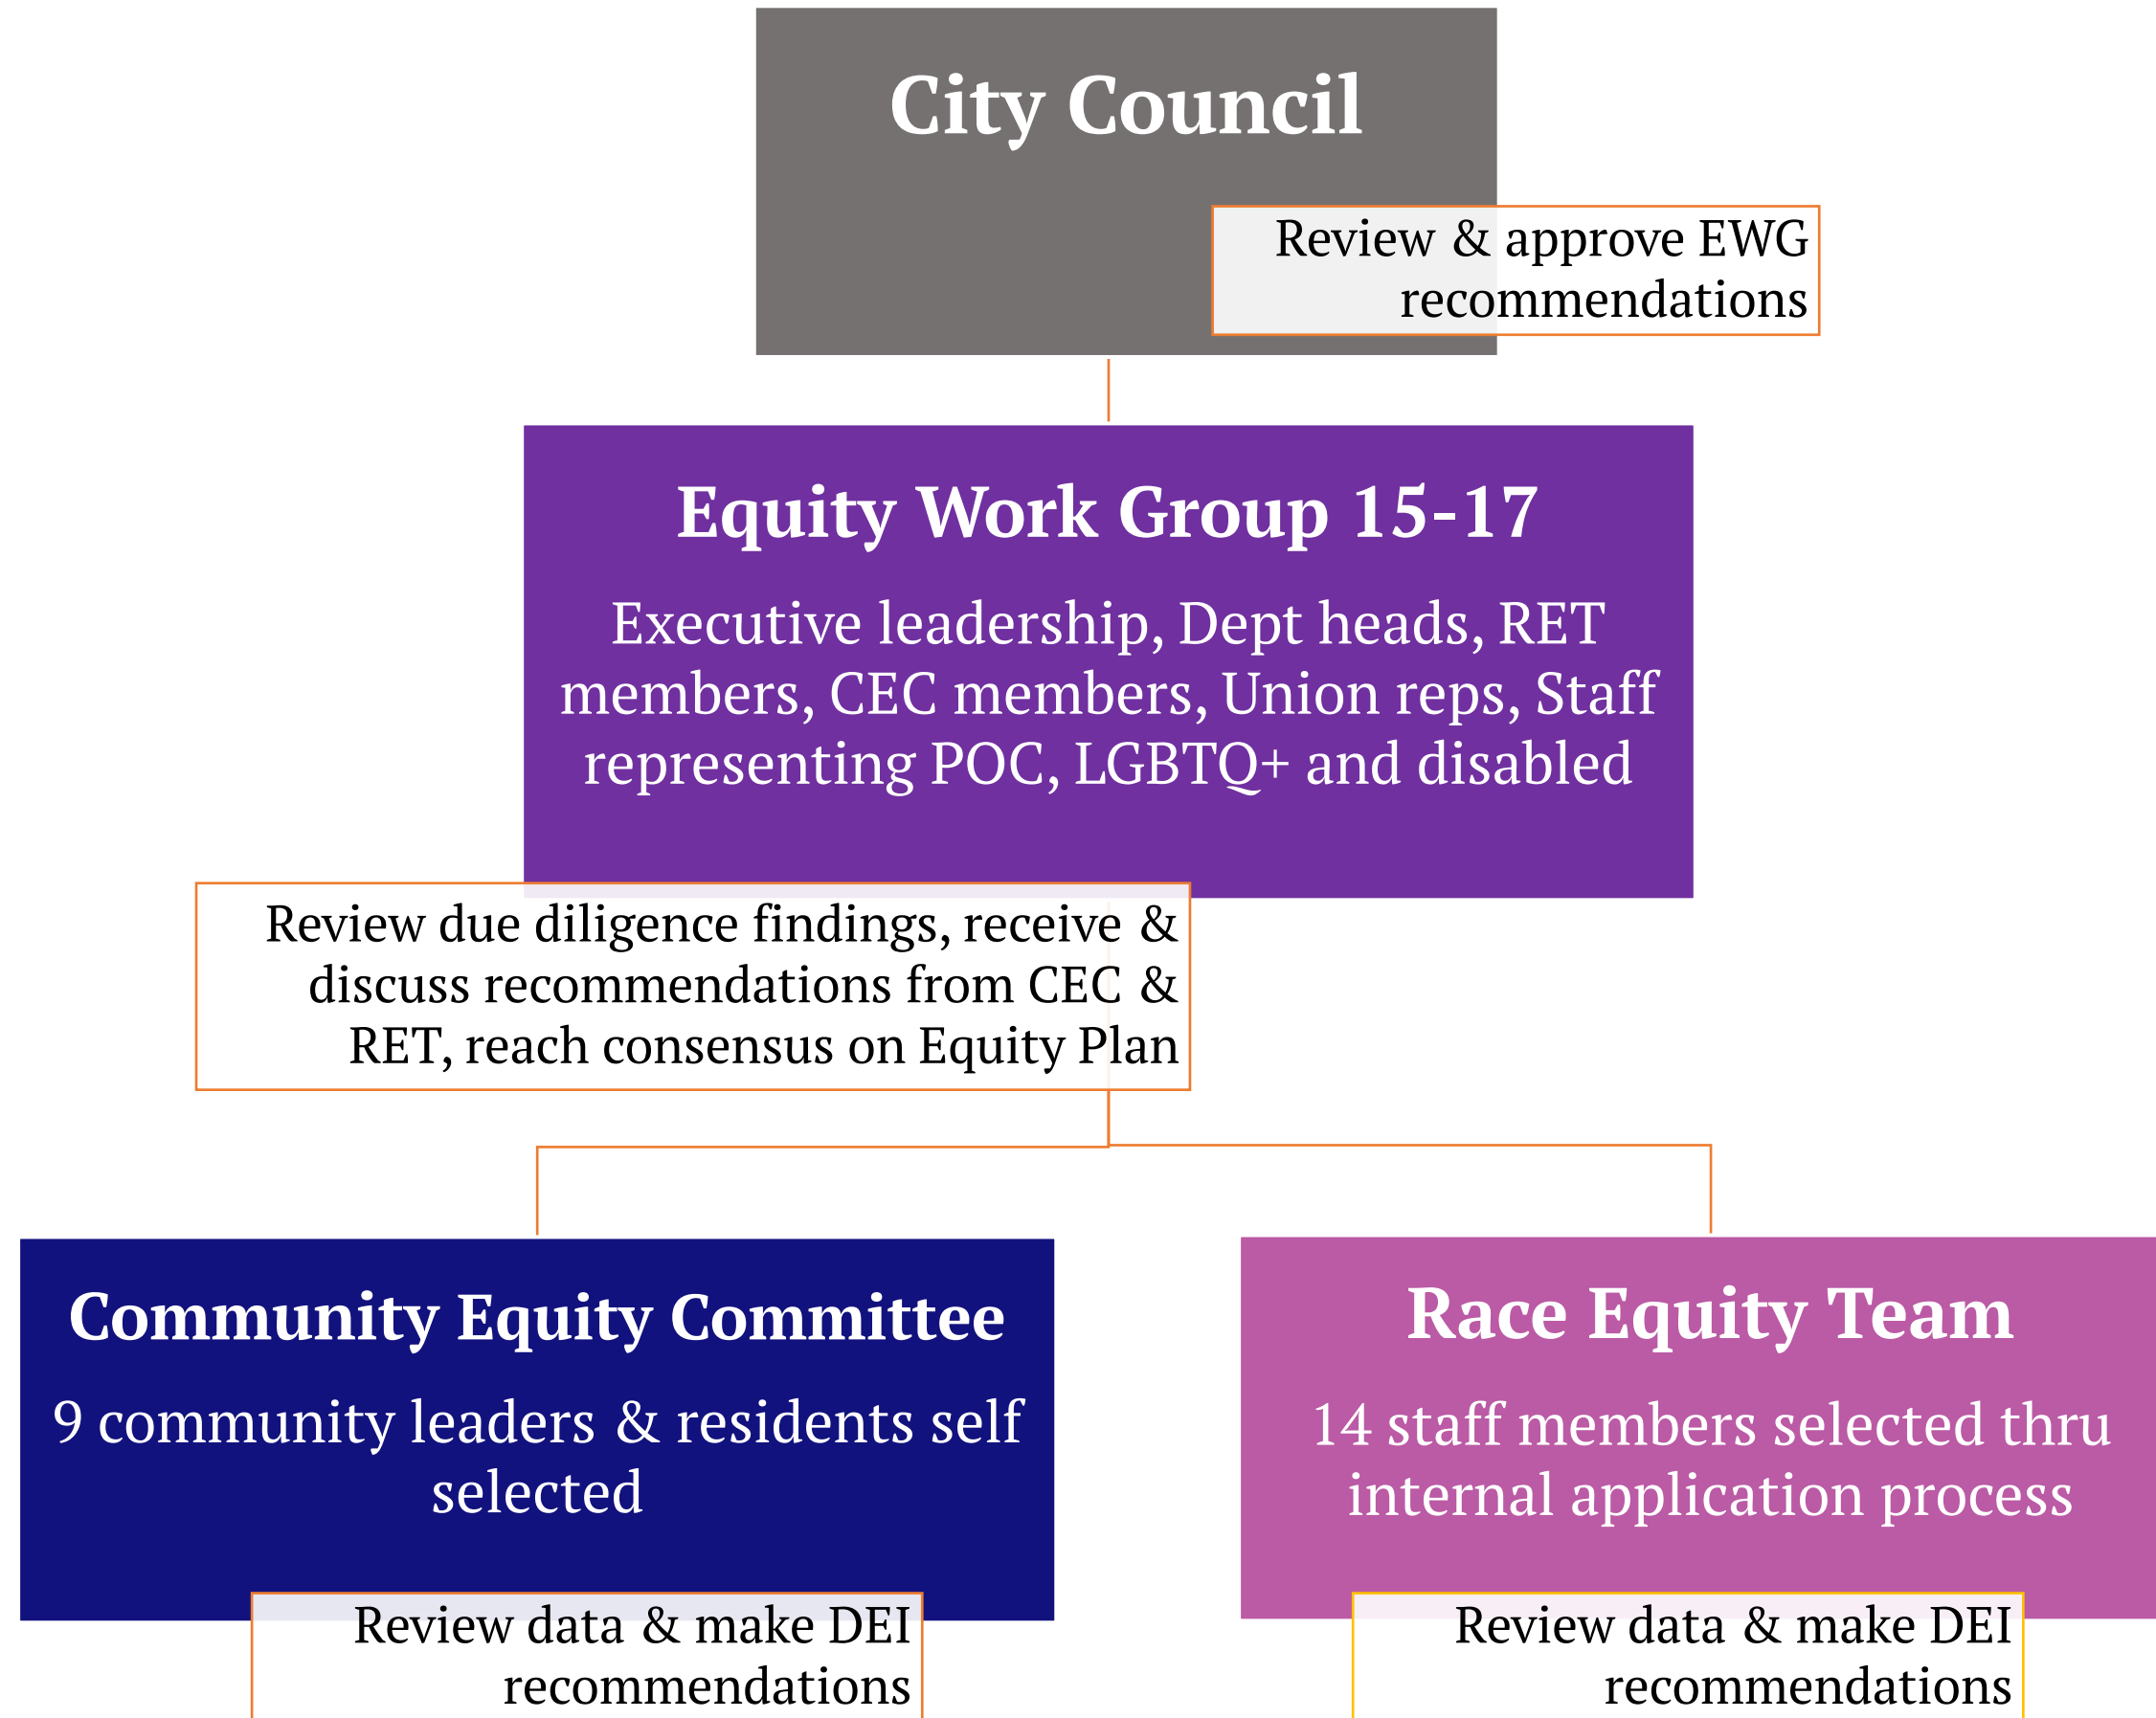

DEI Findings

- City staff have varying levels of commitment and understanding of DEI.
- Diverse representation is not enough to achieve DEI goals, it needs to be accompanied by greater accountability and transparency so that it goes beyond “checking a box”.
- There is uncertainty about what changes should be made—or what change looks like.
- Departments are seen as separate silos—each with varying levels of commitment to DEI depending on leadership. Many are perceived to fall short of the ideal.
